Access Statement for The Farmland Museum and Denny Abbey

This Access Statement does not contain personal opinions as to our suitability for those with disabilities, but aims to accurately describe the facilities and services which we offer all our visitors.

Introduction

The Farmland Museum is a local and social history museum, with a particular interest in farming, located just off the A10 near Waterbeach. The Museum also looks after Denny Abbey, a listed 12th Century set of religious buildings, including a Victorian cottage, on behalf of English Heritage. The museum is set in farmland, a few hundred metres from the main road, comprising a set of farm buildings, as well as some purpose-built structures. Some of the larger exhibits are open air, but most of the museum's collection is housed within these buildings. The site is spacious, with grassy areas between the buildings and views beyond, lending it a relaxed, rural feel.

Admission to the English Heritage part of the site (the abbey, refectory and cottage) is free for members, who pay a reduced rate for entry to the Farmland Museum. Non-members pay a flat rate for entry to all parts of the site. Concessions, family and season tickets and reduced rates for children, apply.

There is no disabled access to the upper floor of the abbey, or the cottage. Booklets showing pictures of these areas are placed on the ground floors for the benefit of those unable to access them. All other areas of the museum are accessible. The paths are gravelled, and there are grassy areas. There are two wheelchairs that may be borrowed from the entry kiosk.

There is enough on site to occupy at least a half day visit (2-3 hours).

We look forward to welcoming you. If you have any queries or require any assistance please phone 01223 860988, or email: info@farmlandmuseum.org.uk
